The Challenge

The Patient Support Centre (PSC) at SickKids, a 22-storey tower dedicated to education, training, and administrative functions, brings together essential hospital services in a modern, central hub. This project involved equipping spaces with high-quality furniture systems, creating functional and collaborative environments for nearly 3,000 staff members. Each floor was uniquely designed with color-coded themes enhancing wayfinding and complementing the building's architectural vision. From administrative offices to outdoor social areas, the PSC reflects SickKids' commitment to a cohesive and future-ready workspace, providing staff with environments that support productivity, collaboration, and well-being.
